

Data Declaration

Crimes Against Persons, Property, and Society Offenses Offense Category by Time of Day, 2014

The FBI collected these data through the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program's National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS).

General Comment

- These tables show the number of incidents in each respective crime category by their associated offense category and the time of day in which the incidents occurred. For Crimes Against Persons, incident totals are distributed by 6 offense categories comprised of 15 offense types. For Crimes Against Property, incident totals are distributed by 12 offense categories consisting of 23 offense types. For Crimes Against Society, incident totals are distributed by 5 offense categories comprised of 11 offense types.
- In NIBRS, the time of day is collected at the incident level, not for each offense within the incident.

Methodology

- To arrive at the totals provided for each column of data, the UCR Program counted one incident for each offense type identified within each NIBRS incident.
- In a multiple-offense incident, one incident was counted for each offense type in order to attribute the incident to each associated offense category.
- The UCR Program aggregated the incident data by offense category and the incidents' time of day for each table.
